NINETY-TWO CHILDREN WERE SCHICK-TESTED ON MONDAY

Second Free Clinic to Wipe Out Diphtheria Brings Out Larger Number of Children—Tests to be Read Friday—Another Clinic Later.

Ninety-two children applied and received the Schick test at the free clinic held Monday afternoon at the city laboratory on John street. This was the second clinic held under the auspices of the city health board in an effort to wipe out diphtheria in Kingston, and the attendance was larger than at the first clinic held. Dr. Frank A. Johnston, health officer, was much pleased at the attendance which shows that parents are awakening to the need of wiping out diphtheria which so far this year has caused five deaths in the city. Another free clinic will be arranged later.

The Schick test on Monday was administered by Dr. Laidlaw, of the state health department, and it will be read on Friday afternoon at the city laboratory. Those who react to the test will then be given the first injection of toxin-antitoxin. This is used as a preventative and it is claimed that actual tests throughout the state have shown that children receiving it have been immunized from the disease for a period of at least seven years.

FASCISTI HOLD STAGE IN ITALY

Their Convention, With 30,000 Present, May Result in Peaceful or Forceful Overthrow of Government.

Naples, Oct. 24.—The political fate of Italy—perhaps civil war itself—was hanging in the balance today when the convention of Fascisti, an extreme Nationalist organization of former soldiers, opened here today. Troops have been massed to prevent disorders.

Thirty thousand men and women, affiliated with the Fascisti, have gathered here.

Thirty thousand Italian soldiers, supported with artillery, machine guns and airplanes, have been massed at strategic points.

Leaders of the Fascisti are threatening to march upon Rome to seize the government. They are launching a great campaign to strengthen the organization in southern Italy.

Among the leaders on hand is Deputy Mussolini, spokesman for the organization in the Chamber of Deputies. There was a great demonstration when thousands of members of the organization, wearing black shirts, paraded through the streets. The population seemed cordially disposed towards the Fascisti and there was no hostile move against the marchers.

Deputy Mussolini made the opening speech at San Carlo Theater.

TOOHEY'S ACTION IS DISMISSED

Judge Staley Rules He Didn't Produce Strong Enough Evidence to Warrant Divorce.

The divorce action brought by Daniel J. Toohey against Margaret Toohey on the grounds of desertion and misconduct, was suddenly terminated Monday afternoon at the conclusion of defendant's testimony. At the conclusion of plaintiff's case, E. H. Houghtaling, attorney for defendant, moved for a dismissal of the complaint on the grounds that plaintiff had not sustained his case by proper testimony. Judge Staley reserved decision until Mrs. Toohey had testified and at the conclusion of her cross-examination granted the motion of Mr. Houghtaling made at the conclusion of plaintiff's case. Mrs. Toohey was the only witness called by the defendant.

Judge Staley granted Mr. Houghtaling's motion on the grounds that sufficient evidence had not been introduced on the part of the plaintiff and that the only evidence upon which a divorce could be granted had been that of Frank Toohey, a brother of plaintiff, and this evidence he was inclined to discard.

Frank Toohey testified to having gone to the home of his brother on Election day, 1921, and without knowledge of defendant, had witnessed misconduct on her part, he named Terry Hess as the man involved in the case. Several letters were also introduced in evidence from Mrs. Toohey to Hess. One in which she gave her address in New York and signed "wife," she said had been sent to make her husband "good and jealous," as she knew he was of a jealous nature. "She denied any misconduct," D. W. Ostrander appeared for plaintiff and Earl H. Houghtaling for defendant.

At the conclusion of the Toohey case the action brought by the National Surety Company against Abram Kelder of Rosendale, was taken up. John W. Eckert appeared for plaintiff and Van Etten & Cook for defendant. It is an action for money had and received.

One Hundred Cakes Her Reward In Advertising Contest—Twenty-Four Others Win Twenty Cakes Each—Prof. Kelly the Judge.

A feature of the advertising of the Procter & Gamble Company manufacturers of White Naphtha and other high grade soaps, which has been carried on in The Freeman for some time, was an essay writing contest. A prize of 100 cakes of soap was offered to the person who in an essay of not more than 50 words used the word "white" oftenest. Prizes of 20 cakes of soap were offered to each of the 24 persons whose essays were next in merit. Prof. Charles L. Kelly of Spencer's Business School acted as judge of the contest and has awarded the prizes as follows:

Mrs. Edward T. Pratt, 155 Prospect street, Kingston, N. Y.
M. L. Norton, 88 Murray street, Kingston, N. Y.

The essay that won first prize was as follows:

RED CROSS ANNUAL MEETING

There are several thousand members of the American National Red Cross in Ulster county, each and all of whom have paid their dues the past year. Every such member is asked to be present at the annual meeting of the Kingston Chapter at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday afternoon of this week, at 2:15 o'clock. It is up to the members of the chapter at this meeting, to elect the executive committee, that will transact the business of the chapter the coming year, and from whose members the officers of the chapter will be chosen. Why are people asked to belong to the Red Cross all these days after the war? Only the American Red Cross could begin to take care of the awful suffering at Smyrna, the needs for which will be told at this meeting. The Red Cross is doing a vast deal—far more than is realized—for our disabled ex-service men, or those needing assistance for themselves or their families. That will be a big Red Cross "job," till every ex-service man has been cared for. Then there is the big roll call which will open on Armistice Day, to be arranged for. If it had not been for just such past roll calls there would not have been money ready for the Smyrna relief. New work will also be considered.

Annual Chicken Pie Supper.

On Friday of this week the ladies of Trinity M. E. Church will serve their annual fall chicken pie supper. ## THE HENRY FORD GOING FISHING

Apparently Captain Morrissey is Through Racing After Beating Bluenose Twice—Won't Accept Trophy—Fishermen Won't Use Yachting Rules.

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 24.—Captain Clayton Morrissey, who yesterday sailed the schooner Henry Ford to victory over the Canadian champion Bluenose, today began replacing the ballast in his craft and said he was "going fishing."

This was taken as an indication that there would be no more international fishing races this year at least. Morrissey's action in replacing the ballast is a violation of the deed of gift governing the trophy award.

Bitterness aroused when the racing committee declared Saturday's victory of the Henry Ford as no contest, has not subsided. If there is unanimity about anything connected with the marine tournament, it is that fishermen can't race to yachting rules. They don't understand them, and they don't propose to learn them.

Captain Morrissey said today he hadn't decided whether or not he would race the Boston schooner Mayflower, which was barred as a contender by the racing committee.

Nearly all of Gloucester feels that the Ford in yesterday's victory, has demonstrated her superiority over the Bluenose and is entitled to the cup. Friends of Captain Morrissey say he would not now accept the trophy.

A Salad Supper.

The Mite Missionary Society of St. Mark's A. M. E. Church, Foxhall avenue, will give a salad supper at the church Thursday evening, October 26th, at 8 o'clock.

SURETY COMPANY SUING KELDER

To Recover Moneys Said to Have Been Checked Out of Town Fund by Ex-Supervisor Hasbrouck.

Supreme court convened this morning at 10 o'clock when case No. 181, William Doyle, Jr., against M. J. McArdle and another, an action for damages was announced settled.

Grant M. Brinnier appeared for plaintiff and John J. Scully for defendant. Numbers 251 and 253, Christopher Nelson against Maurice Goodman and Sarah E. Woolsey against the same defendant, both actions to recover damages from automobile accidents, were announced as in the process of being settled and they were taken from the day calendar. E. H. Houghtaling appears for plaintiff and Sugarman, Michael and Weeks for defendant.

The action brought by the National Surety Company against Abram Kelder of Rosendale was continued. The action is brought by the surety company to recover moneys which it is claimed Mr. Kelder received by check from ex-Supervisor James S. Hasbrouck. It is alleged that during 1920 Mr. Hasbrouck, then supervisor of the town of Rosendale, drew checks upon the general fund of the town to his own order which were turned over to Mr. Kelder, presumably for cash. The surety company claims that Mr. Kelder should have known that the checks drawn by Mr. Hasbrouck to his own order and cashed by him were not for payment of just town debts and if he did not know it should have made inquiries as to where the moneys were to be used and if they were to be used in payment of town debts or applied to Mr. Hasbrouck's own use.

During 1920 Mr. Hasbrouck drew from the general town fund in the Kingston Trust Company $1,309.50 upon his own order as supervisor and as such received the cash which it is alleged was not applied to town debts, but was used for his own purposes and the moneys having been paid over to Mr. Hasbrouck at the bank when he presented the checks.

John W. Eckert appears for the surety company and Van Etten & Cook for defendant.

EXPOSITION COMES BACK STRONG AFTER STORM OF MONDAY NIGHT

Wind and Rain Kept Many Away and Blew Down a Little Canvas But All is Set for Big Crowd at Style Show and Other Attractions Tonight.

PERFECT CHILD CONTEST OPENS

Thirty-five Youngsters Seem to Enjoy Themselves While Judges Peep and Measure.

The big event of Monday afternoon was the opening of the Perfect Child Contest, which drew a big crowd to the Exhibition. It had been arranged to examine as many of the children as possible, for what is called the elimination test. It seems that there are certain standards of physical perfection set by both the Federal and State Departments of Health. The children will be measured according to these standards, and those who actually do not conform to the test will be eliminated after being given the first examination. Then those who have stood the tests will be given a final examination, and the committee will then meet and determine the prize winners.

There were thirty-five little folks examined Monday thirty-five of the brightest, happiest, most promising boys and girls that one could meet anywhere. The youngsters seemed to enjoy the entire performance quite as much as the spectators, and were, also, for the most part, greatly interested in it all. Dr. Frank Johnston, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Brown, the nurse, weighed and measured the children. Then they went to Dr. Connelly and Dr. Mary Gage-Day, who took their chest measurement. Dr. Carter was the next examiner, and this time it was teeth that had to be inspected. Finally the boys and girls were given a throat examination by Dr. A. C. Gages. A complete record of all of these examinations was kept by Dr. Johnston. This afternoon at 4 o'clock the other children who are entered for the contest will be given the same examination, there being too many contestants to be examined in one afternoon.

Names of the children do not figure at this stage of the game as they are known only by numbers.

The accident was reported to the police department by Mr. Margolis.

The heavy rainfall with wind

which was preceded by lightning and thunder early Monday evening caused a postponement of the style show at the Kingston Exposition at the Fair Grounds. There was, however, a crowd of several hundred under the waterproof tents during the evening notwithstanding the inclement weather. The wind blew down some of the side wall of the art exhibit tent and the style show tent, but no damage was done to any of the exhibits. This evening the young lady models will display the gowns beginning at 8:30 and each visitor will be given a ballot to cast for whom he or she will consider as the best model. Those who attended enjoyed a fine concert given by Baiffe's orchestra augmented by Paul Zucca with his banjo selections and playing on the xylophone by Lee Perrin, an artist in playing on that instrument. He will play again tonight and will render selections requested. Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 a special style show of gowns, suits, coats and dresses will be given at the Exposition in order to accommodate those who cannot attend the Exposition in the evening.

The program for this evening will be:

Wireless concert.
Baiffe's orchestra.
Lee Perrin on xylophone.
Style show at 8:30 o'clock.
Ten beautiful girls displaying suits and afternoon dresses.
Richard Obermaus, baton expert.
General dancing.
No extra charge for entertainment or dancing.

Wednesday Afternoon.

Wireless concert.
Baiffe's orchestra.
Lee Perrin on the xylophone.
Style show, 3:30, coats, suits and dresses displayed by ten beautiful local young women.

ONE LUNG HAS GROWN TO EIGHT

Milton Mar Turns In His 1904 Cadillac Which Chugs Along To The Exposition To Keep Its Decendant Company.

The development of the automobile during the past twenty years has been great. This fact is more readily realized when a car of twenty years ago is placed alongside a machine of the present day as has been done at the Cadillac booth at the Kingston exposition. Here a 1904 one-cylinder Cadillac stands side by side with a 1923 eight cylinder machine of the same make. This old car was the property of William Townsend of Milton until a few days ago when he traded the old machine in for a newer model. The old reliable one-lunger is a four passenger car with the crank on the side and attracts the attention of all visitors at the show, especially the younger generation, which does not recall the time when the one-lungers chugged up the street a trifle faster than a good horse but with a great deal more noise. In spite of its age the Cadillac still runs and was operated about town Saturday night before it was placed on exhibition in the booth of the Ulster Garage at the exposition. Alongside the old-timer is a 1923, model 61 suburban.

SENATE HOUSE SOUVENIR SNATCHERS ARE WARNED

Judge Clearwater, the president of the Senate House Association, says that the trustees of that association find the inhibition of the Eighth Commandment to be practically negligible so far as some of the visitors to the Senate House are concerned. Therefore they have had printed and will post in each room a notice similar to that which the commandant of the Military Academy at West Point has found it necessary to place in the Military Museum at that post, which is a notice that any person carrying away any article from the building will be prosecuted as prescribed by law.

Civil Service Exams Again.

The civil service commission invites special attention to the fact that in examinations held recently in Poughkeepsie and other cities throughout the United States for computer, coast and geodetic survey, and assistant observer in meteorology, weather bureau, applicants were not secured in the number desired and that these examinations will be held again on December 6. Persons interested in these or other examinations should apply to the Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board at the local post office for detailed information and application blanks.

Difference Is Fundamental.

There is this difference between a wise man and a fool: The wise man expects future things, but does not depend upon them, and in the meantime enjoys the present, remembering the past with delight. But the life of the fool is wholly carried on to the future.—Exhance.

COST OF POLICE WORK INCREASES

Traffic Regulation Caused This In Most Cities With Purchase of Equipment Next Largest Expense.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, October 24.—The increasing need for regulation of traffic has caused another jump this year in the cost of police protection in the cities of New York state, according to a report made public today by the mayors' conference, bureau of municipal information. The 1922 increase in police appropriations, however, according to the bureau's figures, is less than it has been in any year since 1916.

The average yearly increase from 1916 to 1921, inclusive, was 12 per cent, while the total appropriation for police departments in all cities in the state is only 7 per cent greater this year than it was in 1921. A total of $27,148,843.99 has been appropriated by the fifty-nine cities for police protection this year. The total appropriation in 1921 was $2,356,518.01 less. In 1916, the cities appropriated only $21,464,817.07.

"An analysis of the figures we have received," said W. P. Capes, director of the bureau, today, "shows that this year's increase in the cost of police protection can be directly chargeable to the automobile. Thirteen cities have reduced the cost of their police departments this year. These decreases range from one per cent to 23 per cent. In eight other cities the appropriations for 1921 and this year were practically the same. The increases in the other cities range from one per cent to 134 per cent."

"Reports received from the cities whose police appropriations have increased more than 5 per cent this year bring to light the fact that the

LEIGHTON RESIGNS AS COMMANDER

Evidently Christians.

An American family living in China recently hired two servants from Nanking, a missionary center. Accordingly, the new servants were Christians. Another Chinese servant in the family discovered the newcomers' religion and reported the fact to his mistress. Asked how he knew the new boys were Christians, he said: "Oh, they know all about God, Jesus Christ, and Santa Claus."

regulation of the increasing urban traffic has made it necessary to enlarge police forces and, therefore, raise their appropriations. Sixteen cities have increased the number of patrolmen this year. Most of them report increased traffic work as the reason. The enforcement of the prohibition laws has played a much smaller part in increasing the cost of the departments than it was anticipated it would, as only three cities report that additions to their forces were caused by prohibition enforcement. Purchase of equipment, which in most instances was delayed during the period of high prices, is the second important reason given for increased police appropriations. "Only five cities give raises in salaries as a cause for increased cost. In two of these cities the salary raises were automatic, and, therefore, mandatory."

FEDERATED CHURCH COUNCIL ASKS NEAR EAST ACTION.

Asks Churches to Make Wishes Known to Government.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Washington, Oct. 24.—To more than 100,000 Protestant churches throughout the United States the Federal Council of Churches is sending a call for concerted action on the Near East. It is asking for what is practically a referendum on America's policy. It is urging them to tell President Harding and congress what they want done.

The Federal Council is sending the call only after conferences of religious leaders representing many millions of members. It asks church people to say, to do, to give, as follows:

First, to express their conviction that America has a moral responsibility in the present situation in the Near East.

Second, to tell President Harding and their representatives in congress that they want the government:

(a) To exert its influence to secure permanent protection and religious liberty for the minorities in the Near East, and
(b) To join in conference with other nations on the great moral issues at stake in the Near East.

Third, to give liberally to the relief of the sufferers.

Berries and Roses in October.

Mrs. Mary V. Woolheater of 436 Broadway, adjoining the City Hall property, brought to the uptown office of the Freeman Monday about thirty ripe strawberries of an old fashioned variety, also a number of blossoms, picked from vines in her garden, the berries being a sample from many others which she picked during the last few days. To make the exhibit more interesting, Mrs. Woolheater decorated the saucer which contained the berries, with a number of red rambler roses.

PROTEST OVER NEWBURGH GAMES

Kingston and Poughkeepsie Assert Bellinger Had No Right in Line-up As He Had Played Four Years.

Kingston High School has entered a formal protest to the Hudson Valley League officials on the game with Newburgh, which was played in this city last Saturday afternoon on the grounds that Bellinger, has already played four years of high school football and therefore according to the league rules is not eligible to play this year. Poughkeepsie has also entered a similar protest concerning the playing of this man and the matter will be settled at a meeting of the league to be held on Saturday of this week at Newburgh. In fact, the game was played under protest by Kingston on Saturday, as Newburgh refused to remove this man from their line-up at the beginning of the game. If the protest is upheld as it very likely will be, it will again place Kingston in the running for championship honors and if the team improves as much in the next week as it did during the past week, the other teams along the valley had better watch their step.

TEMPLE IS WORLD WONDER

Gigantic Memorial to the Memory of Buddha Recognized as Masterpiece of Ingenuity.

What is claimed to be the greatest wonder of the world is the great Buddhist temple of Barmahoeles, in Java. This gigantic building, which makes even the Pyramids of Egypt "look small," was built centuries and centuries before the coming of Christ.

The builders first made an enormous, artificial, flat-topped hill, 150 feet high, and on this they erected their temple, a building measuring 2,000 feet in circumference and six stories high. There are miles and miles of galleries and hundreds of rooms, and the temple is carved—every inch of it—into marvelous pictures that tell the story of the birth and life of Buddha in his various incarnations.

It is the picture bible of the Buddhists, the most beautiful thing of its kind ever created by human hands.

But the strange thing about this enormous building is that it was lost for a period of more than 600 years. And not only lost, but so utterly forgotten that its very name was not so much as mentioned.

How this extraordinary thing came to pass is told by Dorothy Dix in her travel book entitled "My Joy-Ride Round the World."

When the Mohammedans conquered Java they imposed their religion upon the islanders and destroyed the Buddhist temples. Alas, that is, save this one, which was covered over with earth by the conquered people.

In that hot, moist climate the jungle in an incredibly short time closed in about the temple, and as years rolled on the memory of it faded from the minds of men.

Then, about a century ago, the fortune of war made Java a British possession, and Sir Stamford Raffles was in charge of the administration of the island.

Through some old papers that came into his possession he got on the track of the lost temple and started to work clearing the jungle and removing the earth from above it. When the structure was finally unearthed it was found to be almost as perfect as when it was built.

It had been hermetically preserved to come to light as the eighth wonder of the world.

He Knew the Country.

An American negro from Mississippi, known simply as "Thomas," is the proprietor of the chief outdoor pleasure resort for foreigners at Constantinople. Before the Russian revolution Thomas owned a string of restaurants and theaters in Moscow, where he lived luxuriously. He has had, in all, three Russian wives, white women. He is now a refugee on the Bosphorus, the Bolsheviks having robbed him of everything, including his American passport. He was very anxious to get another passport, not with the idea of returning to America, but because "it would help him in his business." But the American consulate refused him the paper, on the ground that it had no record of his citizenship. One day I said: "Thomas, why don't you send to the United States and get a certified copy of your birth certificate from your old home?" Thomas leaned over the chair on which I was sitting in his theater garden and whispered in my ear with the true negro candor: "Say, Mist' Dunn, you know jes' as well as Ah does dat us niggers down in Mississippi ain't never got no birth certificates."—Robert Dunn in the New York World.

The Regular Attendant.

A young school teacher on the North side belongs to a bridge club. At the beginning of this season one of the members made the remark that she was the only one who had not missed several nights at the club the year before. Several congratulated her on being so regular.

The worst cat of the crowd spoke up: "If you had a regular beau, like I have, you just couldn't be present every time."

There was silence for a minute, then the little teacher scratched back. "My beau did raise a row about my unwillingness to miss club meetings," she retorted, "until I told him I was afraid to miss, for after the way you all talk about the others when they aren't here, I know you'd talk about me if I wasn't here."—Indianapolis News.

SUEDE TO ADORN NEW FALL SUITS

Decoration Will Be Given Important Place in Dress This Autumn and Winter.

SHORT JACKETS OF LEATHER

Outer Garment Also to Feature Fur—New Long and Slender Coat Wraps Closely About the Body.

Early autumn days, with vibrating visits between town and country, bring with them the necessity for garments which are at once dressy enough for the few hours of fall shopping in town and yet are simple enough for the country. Writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune, Paris dressmakers, who study to the most minute detail the needs of their customers, have prepared garments of this description, models in tailored suits and dresses which carry a suggestion of winter in weight and color.

Suede has taken an important place in dress for the coming autumn and winter. Last spring this leather was exploited in a limited way. Suede hats were brought out in Paris, but were not received enthusiastically in this country, one objection to them being that they were too warm for summer wear.

That designers still pin their faith to suede is evidenced by the fact that they are using it in a liberal way for frocks, suits and coats as well as in millinery. It is charmingly combined with the woolen fabrics that we have come to associate with winter.

Wool and Suede Combine. Among the most attractive of the new models is Vionnet's velours de laine and suede suit, which consists of a gilet with sleeves made of suede and a sleeveless jacket and skirt of velours de laine of a soft quality which looks like reindeer skin. This lovely fawn brown tone is much used by this famous maker.

With this was ordered a charming hat made of suede to match and trimmed with a large, flat, flower-like ornament cut from the leather and posed carelessly on the brim at one side.

One of Lanvin's newest outdoor dresses is of khaki serge and perforated suede. The low waistline bodice is of the perforated leather. Each small eyelet has a ring of self-tone embroidery. The skirt, which consists of a series of plaited panels interspersed with plain ones, is of kasha serge.

Cashmere Resembles Jersey. A single strip of the cloth forms a straight band, trimming down the front of the blouse and outlines slashed pockets over the left breast. There are two of these pockets, one directly above the other. This is a favorite method of placing pockets this season.

To complete this charming costume there is a small leather hat with a round crown and a rolling brim which turns up abruptly at the back, where it is trimmed with a quill-shaped ornament of wing feathers to match the suede in color.

Madame Jenny of Paris comes forward this autumn with a dress made of natural colored enclumere, woven something like a jersey. In color it is quite like natural colored wool underwear. Smart women are affecting this dress. Madame Jenny is also having great success with a model of this wool and trimmed with leather.

With a frock of this sort a leather hat is usually worn, a typical model being in colonial shape with a closely creased brim forming points just over the ears. This hat, worn low on the head, is extremely coquettish.

A logical place for the use of leather in clothes for the autumn is in the short separate jacket, which has been during the entire summer one of the strongest notes in fashions. The interesting cloths that have been used for these jackets will be varied by leather and fur for the autumn. One designer specializes in jackets of blistered or embossed leather.

With these coats skirts of wool are worn. These are fairly short, usually about eight inches from the ground. The lower skirts are reserved for more formal wear. Of course, there are those who will always exaggerate the length of their skirts. The woman who wore her skirt to her knees during the period of short skirts now wears them almost to the ground.

Long and Slender Coats. It would appear that style creators invariably reason that the taste of the public will swing from one extreme to another. Consequently, they no sooner see a bit of their own handiwork become popular than they launch something in direct opposition to it. So we have the very long, slender coat which wraps quite closely about the body, many of them being extremely tight about the hips.

These are of both silk and cloth and in many instances elaborately braided or embroidered. Fine plaiting frequently is used on these coats in the form of panels. The use of plaited panels continues in coats, skirts and frocks.

There is a steady increase in the use of woolen fabrics for dresses. For a time it looked almost as if they had been supplanted by silks. But the wheel of fashion turns slowly and steadily so that after a long period of silk we see wools in stronger favor than they have been in several years.

Woolens for One-Piece Dress. This does not mean that they will supplant silks, but that their use for the simple one-piece frock is steadily increasing. In the medium-priced models Polart, twills, gabardines and serges are always in use, because they are practical and durable. Among the more exclusive cloths this autumn are repps, jacquard brocades and wools with blistered patterns.

The outline or silhouette of all dress has remained practically unchanged for several seasons, and for this reason we have had to depend largely upon materials for novelty. This has meant an unusual development in the art of weaving. Fabric makers have not fallen short of the great things expected of them.

One of the new burellas, a sort of coarse homespun cloth with a pebbly finish, is used to develop an interesting dress for town shopping on autumn days. This garment, which is of the robe-manteau type, has a cape back simulating a jacket which, in addition to being a smart feature, makes this more of a street or traveling costume.

Paris is having a big season on novelty purses and handbags for both day and evening wear. Beautiful and unusual types are now being shown. There seems to be no end to the bag designer's genius for new designs, for they are becoming a weekly event.

Fallie silk, moire and suede are the most popular materials for the new purses. Of course, in the novelty class there are models of tapestry and others made of suede and fur combined or of all fur. The monkey pelt plays no inconsiderable part in the bag-making industry.

Evening Bags Match Gown.

The popularity of velvets and metallic brocades in evening dresses has inspired bag makers to create all sorts of interesting purses for evening wear. There are metal brocades on which outline embroidery is done in steel or crystal beads, with some pronounced feature of the brocade accentuated by the bead tracing. Many of the pouch-shaped models have metal frames imitating rare handsome antique specimens, while there are other exquisite bags of lame mounted with carved old ivory frames and clasps.

Handsome gold brocades and gold-embroidered materials from Rolier are being made up into handbags for evening wear. These have the carved wood mountings or galalith enameled in color combined with gilded bronze. Persian and Japanese patterns in embroidered silk and silver threads are much used for novelty bags. The elaborate brocades just mentioned are in high colors, while the cashmere designs and mixtures in subdued colorings are preferred to marked patterns.

Good of Eddie.

The story is being told in England that a short time ago a celebrated duke was supping with the prince of Wales, and drinking rather freely he gave for a toast "A speedy coronation." The young prince's eyes flashed and seizing his own glass he dashed its contents in the duke's face. Boston Evening Transcript.

KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 24, 1922.

The devastating forest fires in rural Quebec call to mind the hard life of the French-Canadian farmer pictured in that vivid and tragic "ronicle," "Maria Chapdelaine," which has been so widely read and deservedly praised in both Europe and America. In the upper regions of Canada the slavery of the farmer does not end when by vast labor he has reclaimed a few acres from the forest. He must work in haste from dawn to set of sun to get the needed produce from the land before the "white death" of winter descends upon him. For his summer is all too short, sometimes so short that its end comes before his crops have matured. The summer, with its swarms of gnats, mosquitoes and black flies, soon gives place to the lean winter with its deep snows, bitter cold, isolation and loneliness. Literary Louis Hemon saw these changes and anxious hurried labors on a farm in Quebec, where he spent a year, and wrote of life there just as it is in his pathetic story, "Maria Chapdelaine," which is now justly famed.

KU KLUX IN KANSAS.

Late on the night of October 14 the mayor of Liberty, Kansas, was called out of his office, seized by masked men with automobiles, rushed four miles out of town, stripped to the waist, tied to a tree, and received thirty lashes on his bare back from "blacksnake" whips. Then he was taken half way back to town, dropped at the roadside and told that if he did not keep his mouth shut the next time he would get tar and feathers as well as a lashing. His only offense was indicated by the accusing remark of one of the Ku Klux as he laid on the whip: "You are one of these fellows that have denounced the Klan."

The whole state of Kansas is reported to be worked up, the attorney-general is making a vigorous investigation, and the abused mayor proposes to sue his own town for $100,000 damages which he may be able to collect. It is said, in view of his right to protection of life and limb. The higher Ku Klux officers of Kansas have offered $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the floggers, but Governor Allen has pertinently observed that "the responsibility rests upon the shoulders of those who employ the disguise and preach the right of mobs to take the law into their own hands." This is self-evident. However ready Ku Klux heads may be to disavow atrocities committed by members, the order itself is responsible—a secret order working behind masks and employing physical force to achieve its ends. Though the heads of the Klan may presume only to usurp the office of the courts in the matter of community regulation and do by violence what should be done under the law, too many members of the Klan inevitably go forth to wreak private revenge. The one breeds the other, crime following a lawless aim.

TOO MUCH OF A LUXURY.

A "good fellow" is an asset in what seems to many persons to be a period of depression and discontent, unrest and ugly murmurings. Good fellows are all too rare in our human scheme of things. They are what chemists call catalysts. They bring about desirable reactions. But when a good fellow seeks to maintain his happy celebrity with other people's money, with money wrung from taxpayers fairly staggering under the general load of costly existence, that is something else again. Being a good fellow with the people's money is a fascinating sport for the good fellow, but what about those who must pay these good fellow bills at the rate, say, of $54,000,000 a year in new taxes?

Now that is precisely what Alfred E. Smith's talent in good fellowship cost the people of this state in the last year of Mr. Smith's administration. This might be figured at something like $10,000 a handshake every time "Our Pal Al" hastened to please the various special groups or blocs that he confessed he lived to please. It might be figured at $1,000 a chuckle or $5,000 for every merry jest with which Mr. Smith entertained the pleaders of special interest. The rate is too high. Comedy should not cost that much. D.

version and the glad hand ought to come cheaper than that.

No, with every appreciation of Mr. Smith's fascinations and his ability to radiate charm and optimism in a sombre world, he costs too much. The state can't stand that superlative brand of good fellowship. If Mr. Smith were to become any more entertaining, any more likeable, he might well bankrupt the state treasury. A government cannot function altogether upon a sense of humor. Surprising as it may seem, business ability, nerve, the pluck to say no to agreeable people and the downright courage to repulse insidious and powerful lobbyists are what this state needs most if the cost of living is ever to come down and the people are ever to be relieved of the crushing burden of taxation piled upon them from all sides.

Good for Mr. Smith, the good fellow. But he is a luxury more expensive than fine jewelry. Right now the state needs a business man, not a good fellow. In Governor Miller it has had a business man with courage, and he should be kept in office.

Sometimes in a hole bored in the bank of a stream; but more often in a burrow under building-foundations, or in convenient crevices in piled-up lumber, or under stacks of rubbish.

2. I am told birds use snake skins to line nests with. Is this so?

True of the great-rumped flycatcher, which frequently, or almost always, has at least part of a snake skin in the nest. Some nests have several skins, and might be thought lined entirely thus. The skins are the thin, cast-off layer left when the snake changes coat.

3. Does a house plant do better if potted in a jardiniere?

It planted in an ordinary flower pot, and the pot stood in a fancy jardiniere of some sort, with air spaces between, there is no advantage in the extra pot, and the damp, close air between them is a good starter for mold on the earthen flower pot. But unquestionably potted plants do well when sunk in dirt in another container which can be a plain or as handsome as desired. The extra layer of dirt prevent the rapid evaporation of moisture at the roots of the plant, through the porous flower pot.

My Refused Love.

In a little Eastern village.

On a dreary October night,

A livery stable keeper met a maid,

Whose troth he'd plighted;

Now, he was tall and handsome

In my thinking way,

And she—Oh, my! was quite a queen

She was so slim, yet gay.

The livery stable keeper,

As he asked her for her hand

Attempted to embrace her

But for this she would not stand;

Oh, why upon this manly breast—

Will you not lay your head?

She looked into his placid face,

And this is what she said:

"My love works in a green house,

And there always is a smell

Of violets and geraniums

Upon his coat lapel;"

Now mind, I do not blame you,

Nor do I make complaint;

But a green house has a fragrance

That a livery stable ain't.

ST. JOSEPH'S HOLY NAME TO DANCE

First of a Series to Be Held Friday Evening at 8 O'clock at St. Joseph's Hall.

St. Joseph's Holy Name Society will hold its first dance of the present season Friday evening, October 27, at 8 o'clock in the school hall. This is the first of a series to be held throughout the coming winter months and from all indications will be a grand success. It is the sincere wish of the pastor, the Rev. J. G. Cushman, and the spiritual director, the Rev. E. A. Duggan, that these social affairs be held, and plans are now in the making to make this coming season a banner one at St. Joseph's.

Friday night's dance will have for its hostess Mrs. J. W. Leary, who needs no introduction to the people of Kingston. Mrs. Leary is noted for her charm and tact and the people, especially the young people, can be assured of a good time under her chaperonage.

The committee in charge is Charles J. Mullen, Leo V. Grogan, Thomas Wayne, J. Harold Cunningham, Robert Howard and John F. Nelson. The Imperial Orchestra will furnish the music. The tickets, including checking, are in the hands of the men of the society. The public is cordially invited.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS

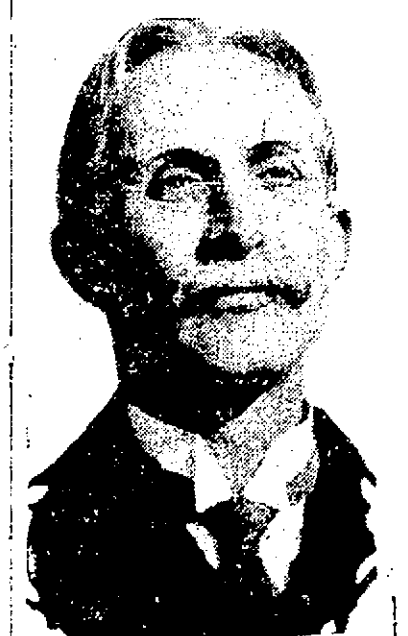

A Chic and Charming Design.
3801-3793—Here is a very popular variation of the jumper dress—and a pretty guimpe to wear with it. As portrayed, wool jersey embroidered in floss was used. The guimpe is of pongee with self-trills and hemstitching for trimming. In dainty or crepe a trimming of grosgrain ribbon would be pleasing.

The guimpe 3801 is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. The dress 3793 is cut in 8 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. The width at the foot is about 2 yards. This style is good for slender as well as mature figures. The dress front is cut with fullness beneath the yoke extension of the back. To make up this style for a 38 inch size, requires 2½ yards of 36 inch material for the guimpe and 3½ yards for the dress, of 19 inch material.

This illustration calls for two separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 12 cents for each pattern in coin or stamps by The Freeman Pattern Department, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state size wanted.

LAW'S SEAT IS NOT TOO SECURE

Apparently Next Support of former Political Enemies to Control New Parliament—Cabinet Not Yet Complete.

Telegraph to The Freeman, London, Oct. 24.—Premier Andrew Bonar Law was busily engaged today in completing his new cabinet preparatory to the greatest political campaign England has known in modern times. It was anticipated that the new premier would turn in his list of appointments to King George late today or tomorrow and that the king would immediately issue a proclamation dissolving parliament.

According to the Daily Express, the official mouthpiece of Premier Law, the following were cabinet, certainities:

A Bonar Law—premier.
Lord Cave—lord chancellor.
Lord Curzon—foreign secretary.
Lord Derby—first lord of the admiralty.
Lieut. Colonel Leopold Amery—colonial secretary.
Stanley Baldwin—chancellor of the exchequer.
Sir Philip Lloyd-George—president of the board of trade.
Lord Peel—secretary for India.
Lord Novar—secretary for Scotland.

Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen—minister of agriculture.

It was understood that Earl Balfour and other Unionists who supported Lloyd George's coalition government, were not invited to take portfolios.

November 15 has been set as the date of the general election with the new parliament assembling for organization five days later.

Approximately 1,300 persons have announced their candidacy for the 615 seats in Commons. The approximate number of candidatures by parties follows:

Conservatives, (Tories)—500.
Lloyd-George Liberals—175.
Asquith Liberals—300.
Laborites—400.

Premier Law must control 350 members in Commons to have a working majority.

Reginald McKenna, former chancellor of the exchequer, in a political address today urged the public to support the new government in order to establish financial reforms. It is now probable that Mr. McKenna will head the British debt-funding mission to the United States instead of Sir Robert Horne, who was chancellor of the exchequer under Lloyd George.

It is reported that Law is making overtures to the national Liberals to obtain their support. This report caused great rejoicing among adherents of Lloyd-George who see in it a potent for the support of the old coalition faction that the Tories were fighting against.

The Northcliffe press—now conducted by Lord Rothermere, brother of the late Northcliffe—announced that Premier Law must have a better policy than he has hitherto so far, before he can secure the support of the Northcliffe newspapers. Judgment will be withheld.

LUTHERAN TEACHERS HELD CONFERENCE

Three Days Session At Meriden, Conn.—Sacred Cantata Sung By Combined Church Choirs.

Lutheran teachers, representing the parochial schools of the Atlantic District of the Missouri Synod, which includes the states of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts held their annual conference from October 19th to 22nd at St. John's Lutheran Parish House, Meriden, Conn.

As was to be expected, this was one of the most important and constructive educational meetings of the season, about thirty-five teachers and five pastors being present. This association meets annually in October.

The first of the series of four sessions was held at the Parish House. Louis Luecke, principal of St. Paul's Lutheran School, Paterson, N. J., served as presiding officer. Louis Wagner, principal of St. Matthew's, New Britain, Conn., delivered an interesting essay upon the language question and Elmer J. Scheiwe, of New York city, lectured on intelligence tests. During the afternoon, the Rev. Henry Birkner of Boston, president of the Atlantic District, arrived and participated in the discussions. The following officers were elected: President, Louis Luecke; vice-president, John Wambach; secretary, Karl Kaufmann.

In the evening the combined choir of New Britain and Meriden Lutheran Churches presented the cantata "Bethany" by Rhys-Herbert under the direction of Louis Wagner.

The performance was a truly artistic one, and will be long remembered by the assembled teachers most of whom are also choirmasters and organists.

Friday's session before noon was held in the school assembly room. Pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of St. John's Lutheran School, Meriden, were present for model lessons to be given by several of the visiting teachers. Otto Prokopy of St. Stephen's New York city, gave a catechism based on question fifteen of Dr. Schwan's explanation of Luther's Small Catechism: "What is forbidden in the First Commandment?" By means of the catechetical method, it was developed that gross and fine idolatry, no matter of what kind, are prohibited.

The second model lesson was a practical application of a standardized intelligence test conducted by Richard J. Mathewich, principal of St. Immanuel Lutheran School, New York city. These tests were scored in the course of the afternoon session by the teachers. A lively discussion on the merits and demerits of such tests followed. The advantages being found as completely outweighing whatever disadvantages might exist. It was resolved to use intelligence tests in all Lutheran Schools of the Atlantic District.

The meeting on Saturday morning began with the final work of scoring and grading the standardized tests of the previous day. Mr. Luecke concluded the session with an interesting lecture on "Ancient and Modern Civilization." Topics were assigned for the next annual conference to be held in New York city, October 12-14, 1923. A vote of thanks was extended to the Ladies Aid Society of St. John's for serving the visitors and delegates with meals at noon.

TO "EXPOSE" THE MORMONS AT ALBANY AVE. CHURCH.

The National Reform Association of Pittsburgh, Pa., has upon its board of lecturership some of the leading platform speakers of America. Among them is the noted Mrs. Lulu Loveland Shepard of Salt Lake City, Utah, known as "the silver-tongued orator of the Rocky Mountains." She has just returned from Europe where she has been speaking for the past three months to large and enthusiastic audiences.

At 7:45 p. m., Thursday, October 26, she will address a union mass meeting in the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. She will speak upon "The Menace of Mormonism." These addresses are called startling exposures of the Mormon Kingdom, dealing with its missionary propaganda; its polygamous teachings and practices as well as its political, commercial and financial power. The general public is invited regardless of church or creed.

A Modern Electric System of Economic Power

The great power system that is being installed through the Central Hudson Valley affords tangible evidence of the rapid growth of the electric business in this section of the State. This new development, added to the large system already in operation, gives one an idea of the immense scale on which preparations are being made to take care of the rapid growth of the business.

This great development belongs to a new era. It is being built to handle large quantities of energy at high voltage over comparatively great distances for the purpose of bringing power from the most efficient sources with greatest economy to the point of use, in order to meet the demands of 200,000 people.

You can get a good idea of the magnitude and importance of the work by visiting the following places where construction is under way: The site of the new water power development at Rifton; the Rosendale Boulevard open air sub station at Kingston; the large switch yard at Catskill, the great aerial river crossing between Athens and Hudson (recently completed); and the 110,000 volt steel-tower transmission line that will bring Adirondack power from Schenectady.

You have an opportunity to invest with us in this enterprise which means so much to the development and future prosperity of the Valley. The United Hudson 6% Gold Bonds, which you can convert into Cumulative Preferred Stock paying 7%, represent a safe investment in a rapidly growing essential industry.

Can you build a brick house without bricks?

If a man told you he was going to build a brick house without using any bricks, you'd think something was wrong with him, wouldn't you?

Well, then, what about the man or woman who plans to build a sturdy human body but neglects to eat the kind of food that builds that kind of body?

Many "refined" and denatured foods are lacking in the mineral elements which the body requires—especially for bones, nerves and teeth.

You do get the right mineral elements in Grape-Nuts—the delicious cereal food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley.

Every bit of the nutrition which Nature puts into the grains is retained in making Grape-Nuts. Lime phosphates, iron, magnesium, potassium—are all there. And then, too, there's that wonderful flavor and crispness that makes eating a joy.

Try Grape-Nuts with cream or milk for breakfast or lunch tomorrow, and see if you haven't been missing an unusually delicious and sustaining food. Sold wherever good food is sold or served.

IMPORTANT CROP IS COMING BACK

Uster's Delicately Flavored Raspberries, Blighted For Fifteen Years, Being Replaced by Healthy Western Stock Through Van Wagenen Legislation.

Raspberry culture in Uster county has increased each year during the past quarter of a century, but for the past fifteen years the growers as well as the public have noticed a tendency in the berries not to keep for any considerable length of time, and have remarked that raspberries seemed to be lacking in their usual flavor—they had a flat taste and were characterized by a crumbling quality.

Fruit growers knew that the raspberry bushes were affected by some kind of blight, which was known among them as "yellows." Individuals who have raised raspberries for their home use and not for market have noticed the same tendency in the berries grown in their garden patch, and concluded that some blight was present which could not be remedied, but each year the quantity of berries produced has grown smaller until in some cases the berry bushes have been uprooted and the soil devoted to other purposes.

Uster county has been particularly fortunate in being supplied with raspberries. Unlike other small fruits, raspberries naturally are not noted for their keeping qualities, and because of that fact they have not been grown except where it was possible to get them quickly to market. Kingston has shared with New York city the privilege of being supplied generously with the delicately-flavored raspberry, but because their keeping qualities and flavor were becoming yearly less attractive, the berries have not found the ready sale of former years, and from scores of households has issued the inquiry: "What is the matter with raspberries?"

Several years ago the Uster County Farm Bureau and the state experts who visit the farming and fruit region of Uster county periodically, began to discuss the question asked by householders, with a view to learning more about the blight and of some way to overcome it.

Fruit experts pronounced the blight a form of "mosaic," which is a general term applied to blight, or disease, of small fruits, and cast about for means to free Uster county from it. The Farm Bureau pointed out the problem which would confront growers of small fruits unless the blight was eliminated, and showed how serious it would become unless checked.

The result of conferences between Uster County Farm Bureau members and experts of the state was a decision to seek help from local sources in getting aid from the state, and finally last winter a bill was introduced in both houses of the state legislature by Assemblyman Simon B. Van Wagenen in the assembly and by Senator Charles W. Walton in the senate, providing for an appropriation of $4,000 for the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva, N. Y., for use of the station in investigating the insects and diseases of the raspberry plantations in the Hudson river valley. The bill was passed by both houses after Assemblyman Van Wagenen and Senator Walton had explained its purpose, and became a law with the approval of Governor Miller.

Would-be humorists poked fun at the Uster county "raspberry" bill but its importance can be fully appreciated throughout the length and breadth of the Hudson river valley, and especially in Uster county, where the fruit growers have been in danger of losing an important source of income through extermination of their crop, and the public has been in danger of losing one of the most delicious and delicate small fruits raised in this community.

The passage of the Van Wagenen bill was followed promptly by experimental work at the Geneva Experiment Station, and since July Dr. Rankin, of the staff of experts employed by the state, has been studying conditions in Uster county and how best to remedy them. Dr. Rankin is probably the best authority on small fruits, and for some years was employed by the Province of Ontario, Canada, to conduct experimental work there in relation to fruits, their diseases and how to overcome them, and in general to increase the fruit productivity of the Province. The appropriation provided by the Van Wagenen bill and approved by Governor Miller enabled the state to secure the services of Dr. Rankin.

A study of conditions in Uster county, particularly in the fruit growing section in the southern part of the county convinced Dr. Rankin that in the Hudson river section the raspberry patches were 100 per cent affected by "mosaic." Inasmuch as he was unable to find a perfect raspberry patch in Uster county, from the "Marlborough," "Coutant" and other varieties, the growers have changed gradually to the "Perfection" raspberry, which is the variety now generally grown. While they have been propagating new bushes from apparently sturdy stock, they also were propagating diseased bushes; for the disease, which spreads slowly, never dies in a bush once affected but spreads, and in time results in extermination of the entire berry patch.

Dr. Rankin has been selecting disease-free stock for the raspberry growers of Uster county from the states of Minnesota and Ohio, from the Province of Ontario, Canada, and from the Geneva Experiment Station, bringing in fifty thousand new plants which will be distributed among twenty growers. The growers will make a separate planting of the disease-free plants, and next year Dr. Rankin and the Farm Bureau will go through such plantings and will weed out such bushes as are found to have become affected by the "yellows." The growers will use the twenty thousand new plants for propagating, and from year to year will weed out such of the new plants as may become affected with the blight and at the same time weed out the old stock which is affected, so that in the course of a few years the raspberry growers will not have a diseased plant on their places, but instead will have entirely new and perfectly healthy stock. This being a demonstration and not a commercial proposition, Dr. Rankin buys the new healthy stock for the Uster County Farm Bureau which turns over the new stock to the growers.

The result cannot fail to be extremely gratifying to every raspberry grower as well as to every consumer of raspberries for it means not only better quality berries to the consumer but also better prices, for with a yearly-decreasing stock due to the blight prices would be sure to rise.

Thus the problem of the raspberry growers which was discovered by the Farm Bureau which pointed out its seriousness has been solved by the passage of the Van Wagenen raspberry bill and its approval by Governor Miller, and it is very evident that one season will go a long way toward curing a serious fruit blight which has been bothering the raspberry growers of Uster county for the past fifteen years.

Magistrate Edward Burke, also an alderman, of Pittston, Pa., heard the charges of wife beating against Anthony Azakas and, after fining him $10, left the bench and wallowed Anthony in the eye. Anthony took the count, but Judge Burke dragged him to his feet and knocked him down again.

"Now we'll see how he likes it," he said, and resumed his judicial poise. His unique legal decision proved exceedingly popular.

HOLDS HIGHLY PRIZED RELIC

Famous Crucifix Presented to St. Francis Xavier Has Been Long Preserved in Dublin Convent.

The valuable crucifix of St. Francis Xavier which is preserved in the Presentation convent, George's hill, Dublin, was presented as a token of gratitude to St. Francis Xavier by an Indian of importance whom he had converted to the faith. It remained for 200 years at the College of Goa, which the saint had founded. When the Portuguese Jesuits were expelled from India some French or Belgian missionaries who were returning to Europe happened to pass through Goa and succeeded in obtaining possession of the relic. It was brought by them to Paris, where it remained until 1763, when the Jesuits were expelled from France.

Among the Jesuits working in Paris at the time was Father James Philip Mulcaile. In the disturbances and confiscation of property Father Mulcaile was successful in preserving the crucifix, which he brought to Dublin. In Dublin he worked as a secular priest and was instrumental in introducing a community of the Presentation order to the city. He died in 1807, leaving all he possessed, including the precious crucifix, to the nuns. From that day to this it has remained in their possession.—Detroit News.

STOLZ PRAISES KINGSTON TEAM

Louis H. Stolz, president of the New York State Basketball League, writes: "Wednesday the New York State Basketball League will start, and if it isn't the best season, I miss my guess. Take a slant at the rosters of the various clubs. The vulnerable quintets of last year are practically the same, the ordinary teams of the past campaign are augmented by classy performers and the tail-enders of last year are gone."

In taking a peep at the various clubs, President Stolz has the following to say about the Kingston basketball team:

"Kingston, built around the three Powers brothers, Charlie, Artie and Ralph, with George Artus and Benny Borgmann also in line, should be a top or thereabouts all season. Of course none can convince Manager Morgenson that he hasn't a championship outfit. Morgie is considering a deal that would strengthen the Kingston team immensely and would create a furor in the league and if he is able to swing it—look out!"

Every game this year looks like a big one. Followers of the sport can imagine the possibilities of even the opening week's schedule:

Wednesday—Albany at Troy, Cohoes at Kingston.

Friday—Kingston at Albany, Schenectady at Cohoes, Troy at Amsterdam.

Saturday—Amsterdam at Schenectady.

KEATING—In this city, Saturday, October 21, 1911, Josephine A. Keating, daughter of the late Michael and Katherine Dunn Keating.

Funeral will be held from her late residence, 54 Sycamore street, Wednesday morning, October 25, at 8:45 o'clock, and at St. Mary's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Interment in family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

DARING HOLDUP OCCURRED AT MALDEN BRICKYARDS

A daring holdup and robbery was staged Saturday evening at Staples's brickyard, Malden, by two colored men. The two men entered the shack and ordered the workers to hold up their hands and while one of the raiders held them at the point of his gun the other "frisked" them. They then jumped into an automobile, which was driven by a white man. About $300 was stolen from the brickyard workers. Saturday was pay day at the yards and part of the money was to pay the workers' expenses back to their southern homes. The Saugerties police were notified, who immediately notified the authorities at Catskill, Westkill and this city.

The chauffeur was apparently innocent of the plans of his passengers because he paid a visit to a nearby house. He drove a five passenger Reo.

SCHUTTE, FEARFUL, GOES TO GALLOWS

Slayer of Ball Family, Speechless With Terror, Grasps Ropes as Trap Is Sprung.

Wethersfield, Conn., Oct. 24.—Grasping in his hand two pink roses which had been brought to his cell, and white and well-nigh speechless with terror at his approaching fate, Emil Schutte, former storekeeper and constable of Haddam, went to his death shortly after midnight on the gallows at the state prison here, his only utterance being: "Well, goodbye," as the death cap was drawn over his head, preparatory to the springing of the trap.

Schutte, accompanied by his spiritual advisers, entered the death chamber at 12:03:38. Less than a minute later the trap was sprung and he was officially pronounced dead by the physicians at 12:15:30.

Never has a hanging at the prison presented a more ghastly aspect. So plainly was the fear of his approaching end depicted on the face of the condemned man, that he was pallid. He seemed utterly unable to express himself. His eyes were fixed. He made no sign of a struggle nor any attempt to resist. Supported by the attendants, he stolidly permitted the adjustment of the death mask. His whitened hands grasped the two roses so tightly that they were still held firmly when the execution was over.

A letter, signed by Julius Schutte, the son, upon whose testimony the man was convicted, and by three other children, dated October 22, urged Schutte to confess the crime, of which he had been convicted. So far as could be learned however, he died without any admission of his guilt.

The murder of the Ball family in Haddam, concealed for six years, was one of the most gruesome of Connecticut murder tragedies. According to the story of the son Julius, the father, who had nursed a grudge against the Balls, took him with him to their little shack on the night of December 10, 1915, deliberately set fire to the building, shot down the occupants, father, mother and son, Jacob, and then tossed the bodies back into the fire where they were so badly burned that the murder, though suspected at the time, was never proved conclusively until Julius confessed his part in it.

REFUSED TO REMAIN DOWN

Lesson for Those in Danger of Giving Up, Gleaned From History of Harvey Allen.

Down and out at the age of sixty, yet happy and prosperous a year or two later—such is the experience described in Nelson Andrews' thinly-veiled bit of autobiography entitled "Finding Youth," recently issued by the Atlantic Monthly press, remarks Success.

There is something appealingly human about the story, for the failure of the central character, Harvey Allen, is the failure of thousands, and his success, the success that unfortunately too many overlook. Being unconsciously backward in his methods, as well as slightly supernumerary, Allen was discharged from the printing plant where he had labored for years, and thereafter for many days his life consisted of aimless wanderings in search of work, while his spirits were constantly dropping and his bank account fell almost to the zero point. At last he was in sheer despair; he was shabby looking and his self-confidence had vanished utterly; he was forced to bury what remained of his pride and apply for a position as janitor. But even here he was refused, and once again he roamed the streets with the harassing knowledge that for the sake of his wife as well as of himself, he must find work within a day or two.

Then something from within him seemed to give him a sudden jolt. It was as if a subconscious voice was speaking. He discovered that he had been bent and old, but that he could stand straight if he would make the effort, that he could stand straight not only physically but intellectually and in his relations with other men. He could still succeed, could still accomplish things, if he could free himself from the grip of the withering spirit of old age; the world would still be before him, opening up boundless new and glorious horizons, if he could regain his youthfulness of soul, if he could have courage, be venturesome, progressive, optimistic, creative. Above all, what he needed was not to be afraid of adventure, not to be afraid of living, of daring, of doing fresh and untried things.

In pursuance of these new ideas, Allen adopted the expedient of leaving his native New York and of applying for a position in a small New Jersey town. He applied smilingly and with the utmost self-confidence, feeling that he would get the job—and he did get it. What is more, he speedily rose until he was virtually at the head of the new concern; then, having established himself and his wife comfortably in New Jersey, he gained wide publicity for his ideas concerning youthfulness and success, and ultimately accepted an offer to go to California to become the head of a "Youthland" colony modeled in accordance with his theories. Today he is living a useful, happy and highly successful life, honored and respected by hundreds of his fellows, when with a little less determination or self-confidence he might be roaming the streets of New York in rags, one of the great army of homeless derelicts.

LEGION VICTORY DANCE NOV. 10

Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, will hold its annual victory dance at the armory Armistice eve, Friday, November 10. Committees of the local post and the auxiliary will meet at the armory Thursday evening of this week to formulate plans for the event.

From present indications the dance this year should eclipse those previously given by Kingston Post, as members of the committee are prone to use all efforts in order to draw the dance lovers of this city and vicinity to the victory dance.

Folks who have attended the Exposition and received one of the leaflets given out at the legion booth can readily see that the money raised by Kingston Post is used where it benefits the most. In order to continue the work inaugurated by the post the committee hopes the citizens of Kingston will patronize the victory dance on Armistice eve.

HONOR MAKERS OF STANDARD BIBLE

Nation-wide recognition is now being given to those eminent Biblical scholars of half a century ago whose labors after thirty years resulted in the American Revision of the Holy Scriptures, commonly known as the American Standard Bible, now generally accepted as the most accurate version in any language.

The Rev. Dr. Philip Schaff, Professor of Sacred Literature of the Union Theological Seminary of New York, was the President of the American Revision Committee, of which the Rev. Dr. George Edward Day, of the Yale Divinity School was Secretary. The Chairman of the Old Testament Company, in charge of the revision, was the Rev. Dr. William Henry Green, professor of Hebrew in the Theological Seminary at Princeton. The Rev. Dr. Theodore Dwight Woolsey, formerly president of Yale College, was chairman of the New Testament Company. The members of the two companies included the leading Biblical scholars from the various universities and theological seminaries of the country.

The celebration this year marks the fiftieth anniversary of the first formal meeting of the American Revision Committee, which was held at the Bible House, Astor Place, New York, Wednesday, October 4, 1872. Services in recognition of the work of the American Revisers will be continued by the various religious organizations and local Church Federations until the close of the year.

The chairman of the executive committee arranging the celebration is Graham Patterson of New York city. Members of the honorary committee sponsoring the celebration, include among others, Warren G. Harding, Woodrow Wilson, Newton D. Baker, Dr. Royal S. Copeland, James J. Davis, Cleveland E. Dodge, Charles W. Eliot, John H. Finley, Will H. Hays, Herbert C. Hoover, Charles E. Hughes, Robert Lansing, Thomas R. Marshall, Elihu Rott, Dr. David S. Schaff, John W. Vanamaker, John R. ## FRENCHMAN HAD RIGHT IDEA

Principles of Flying Set Out by Louis Pierre Mouillard Have Been Proved Correct.

Who was the first glider? In supplying an answer there is room for the patriots of many nations to delve in medieval annals. Italy and France have a good case. Jenn Baptiste Dane is said to have made a successful glide at Perugia in the fifteenth century, while the margravs of Baecqueville, in the middle of the eighteenth century, skinned across the Seine at Paris.

Details of a convincing kind are, however, lacking. But there is no doubt of the theoretical claims of the Frenchman Louis Pierre Mouillard, who died a quarter of a century ago in poverty at Cairo. In two volumes he set out the principles that should guide man in seeking conquest of the air. To seek to fly by imitating the beating of a bird's wing was not feasible. "Men should imitate such birds as fly with steady wings and avail themselves of the currents of the air."

Ten years after Mouillard was dead (with his dreams of an actual machine unfulfilled) the Wright brothers began the development of his ideas.

Eskimos.

Canada's mounted police count noses and find only about 2,700 Eskimos living in the Far North, not including Alaska.

The low figure is surprising. Beginning with our first lessons in geography, we have heard so much about the Eskimos that most of us imagined they existed in much greater numbers.

In bidding for fame, the Eskimos have had the additional handicap of never producing a great man.

Despite mediocrity and fewness, the Eskimos have become known in all parts of the earth.

This shows the power of advertising.

Peculiar Well.

The attention of the geological survey has been called to a peculiar well in Ohio, and has caused an investigation to be made of it. It appears that the well produces both fresh and salt water through two separate pumps. The explanation proves to be very simple. Two water-bearing beds, confined between layers of limestone, occur at this point, one above the other. The pipe of the fresh-water pump taps the upper vein at a depth of 16 feet. The pipe of the salt-water pump touches the lower vein at a depth of 35 feet; and the brine, being heavier than the fresh water, does not mix with it, but remains at the bottom.

SEEMINGLY HOME OF SPIDERS

In South America One Bulldozing Trolley Line and Another Appears Like an Electric Fan.

In South America and many other tropical countries, the very earth teems with spiders; they live in and on the water; they swarm in the grass; they live in the bushes and on the trees.

The "fairly gossamer," in iridescent infinitesimal species, carries a tiny thread mill in its body, and by some mechanical force, yet unknown to science, can instantaneously shoot out filaments twenty or thirty inches long, by means of which aerial trolley these creatures are always floating about in the atmosphere.

A member of the South African spider family named Proculus is a dusty, domestic, home-loving creature, a poor sort, which inhabits undusted corners and ceilings, in vast numbers. It has a curious method of protecting itself from attack, observes the Detroit News. On too familiar approach its long legs fly together in the center of its web, when it whirls itself around with the velocity of an electric fan, appearing like mere mist on the web, leaving no visible point of attack.

Pat as a Linguist.

Pat and Nora were sitting in the theater before the performance began, when the girl observed the word "Asbestos" on the fire curtain and inquired what it meant.

"Whist!" said Pat, "and don't be displayin' yer ignorance. Don't ye know that 'Asbestos' is the Latin word for 'Welcome'?" — Boston Evening Transcript.

Regular.

A minister from a country district had just moved into the motion picture colony, and a friend was asking how he liked his new pastorate.

"Very well," replied the pastor. "I am doing very well here."

"Plenty of marriages, I expect?"

"Oh, yes," said the pastor, "I have my regular customers." — American Legion Weekly.

The Caterpillar Pest.

France, in the middle ages, had a remarkable method of dealing with plagues of caterpillars. In 1120 the Bishop of Laon pronounced a solemn sentence of excommunication against caterpillars and grasshoppers.

A. R. A. Food Remittance Warehouse Now Busiest Spot in Moscow Since Curtailment of Huge Feeding Program

The busiest spot in Moscow is now the Boyna Food Remittance warehouse of the American Relief Administration. With the curtailment of its huge mass feeding program and the consequent removal of the heavy burden imposed on Russian railways, the A. R. A. is now giving more attention to the matter of food package deliveries with the result that the big warehouse is seething with activity. According to Colonel William N. Haskell, director of the A. R. A. in Russia, more than 95 per cent of the packages purchased in America are reaching their Russian destinations. The others are held in warehouses because the consignees can not be located, and the purchase price is being refunded to the original purchasers.

When the purchaser makes application here in America for a ten-dollar food package to be delivered to his friend or relative in Moscow, Petrograd, or any of the other hundred cities and towns reached by the A. R. A., he has but a vague idea of the manner whereby his package eventually reaches that friend or relative. Pictured above is a scene from the interior of the Boyna warehouse showing containers being packed and crated for shipment to one of the districts. Nearly 200 Russians are employed in the warehouse, where all foodstuffs are received in bulk. Below is the food package spread out on a table.

The American Relief Administration has announced that applications for the purchase of ten-dollar food packages will be received throughout the coming winter at New York headquarters, 42 Broadway. Although the famine that last year threatened the entire region of the Volga and later the Ukraine has been virtually stamped out, there is still need of relief work in these districts, especially among those whose weakened after-famine condition makes them in need of physical rebuilding. Many farmers were hardly able to work or harvest their crops. The A. R. A. is hoping that the American people will contribute to these needy through the food-relief system. Money so received will be applied to general relief, or sent in the form of food to specified beneficiaries.

Meatless Diet in a Hospital.

The experiment of a meatless diet is being tried in the Beth Israel hospital of New York by Superintendent J. Louis Frank. Until recently it was contended by some that meat was the source of vitamins, but this has been recently disproved by Dr. E. V. McCollum, professor of chemistry and hygiene of the Johns Hopkins university. From a medical standpoint it is now asserted that there is nothing inherent in meat that cannot be supplied by fish, milk, eggs and milk products.

COHOES WILL OPPOSE LOCALS

At Armory Wednesday Evening—Both Teams Are Composed Mostly of Last Season's Players and a Good Game Is Looked For.

Frank Morgenweck, manager of the Kingston quintet in the New York State Baseball League, will place his team on the court Wednesday evening at the local armory in its initial league contest. Last Wednesday evening at the armory the Kingston representatives downed the Paterson team and made a good showing. Their opposition for the first circuit contest will be Cohoes.

Cohoes is composed of some of the players it had in its ranks last season and boasts a very strong team. Harry Bergkamp, Kennedy are well known ball players in this locality. This team was renowned last year for its fighting tactics, especially against Referee Solodar. On one occasion in this city a melee resulted.

The local lineup will include A. Powers, Borgeman, Knobloch, C. Powers, Artus, N. Husta and possibly Levinson. The game will start at 8:30 o'clock. The usual dancing will follow the contest.

KINGSTON ASKED TO HELP CLOTHE SMYRNA REFUGEES.

The Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross is in receipt of information regarding the Smyrna disaster that is so appalling, so ghastly as to be scarcely printable. At the time of the fire more than one hundred mothers gave birth to children under conditions beyond description. There is a lack of warm clothing as well as every other necessity that is heart-breaking and every woman in Kingston that can knit, that did knit for the war is asked—at this time informally pending the official meeting of the Red Cross—to get out her needles and begin on stockings, sweaters, caps, etc., any knitted garment that will carry warmth and comfort. Then warm clothing is needed and worn clothing that is cleaned and well mended as well as new clothing may be sent at once to the city hall, the work room that has been in use by the Kingston City Hospital Auxiliary.

Doubtful Recommendation. A London newspaper contains an advertisement of an old English home to be sold, which begins in the familiar style: "Twelve bedrooms, four sitting rooms, paneled dining room, inglenooks, dower chests," etc., and suddenly breaks off from the catalog of ancient blessings with this modernism: "But, owing to electric light, no ghost." One hardly knows whether this exception will add to or detract from the "pulling" power of the announcement.—Outlook.

Two Men and Their Money

Two men had money to invest. Both were good business men, familiar with financial matters. Yet one of them invested in securities which caused him a heavy loss, while the other got 7% to 7 1/2% interest regularly, and his money was repaid when due. No matter how much you may know about investments, it will pay you to read of the experience of these two men. If you do so, possibly you will avoid the unpleasant experience of the man who lost his money. At the same time, you will learn how easy it is to invest your money at 7% to 7 1/2%, and with perfect safety. Send today for a copy of the story, "Two Men and Their Money."
